We mandate our suppliers to prevent and avoid modern slavery and human trafficking in their supply chains including in these higher risk countries.

Sopra Steria's Approach to Preventing Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking

Relevant Policies

The following policies define the steps we have taken to prevent modern slavery and human trafficking in our own operations and supply chain.

- Code of Ethics This underpins our approach to transparency, fairness and loyalty towards our customers, employees, suppliers and others in wider society. The Code of Ethics is aligned to 10 principles of United Nations Global Compact including fighting against child labour and exploitation, forced labour or any other form of compulsory labour. Sopra Steria provides all employees with access to a whistleblowing process allowing them to report concerns which are contrary to this code including breaches of human rights and human trafficking.
- Responsible Procurement
   Policy This policy applies to all procurement activities in the UK and requires we adhere to

- social, ethical, human and labour standards in the procurement of goods and services. Our standard supplier terms & conditions as well as our Supplier Code of Conduct, also require them to uphold human & labour rights and legislation (in the UK) to prevent modern slavery & human trafficking in their own operations and supply chains.
- Sustainability Policy Sopra Steria's Sustainability Policy in conjunction with its Sustainability Framework allows us to be part of a more sustainable economy & community, have more engaged employees and forge better relationships with our stakeholders. This is achieved by aligning our strategy, objectives, policies and practices with the highest standards of sustainability. This includes championing the human and labour rights of our employees and fighting modern slavery.
- Policy for Recruitment and Selection - We only use specified, reputable employment agencies to source labour. We always verify the practices of any new agency before accepting workers from them.
   All candidates must go through a verified right to work check. In the UK, a requirement to comply with Modern Slavery Act 2015 is contained in our supplier contracts.
- Equal Opportunities and Diversity Policy Defines our commitment to establishing and maintaining a working environment which is free from discrimination and which values all employees as individuals.

Due Diligence: Processes and Practices

Within our own operations

We have several policies and processes in place to make sure our employees are not being exploited and that they have a safe and supportive working environment. To support this, we have taken the following steps:

- All employees have a contract of employment. It sets out rights and obligations arising from their employment including the notice period needed for them to terminate the contract and leave our employment. Employees are free to serve notice at any time.
- We conduct verification of an employee's identity and ongoing right to work in the UK.
- We do not withhold any employee's identity documents or passport during their employment.
- We comply with or provide enhanced versions of all legislation in respect of working time & statutory time off, holiday entitlement, time off for personal emergencies, sickness, maternity/ paternity leave, minimum rest breaks and periods.

- We respect the right of individual employees to join a trade union.
   Where groups of employees elect to be represented by a trade union, we are committed to engaging with trade unions in pursuit of harmonious industrial relations.
- We continue to engage with and train all employees, including Contractors, on modern slavery and human trafficking. Raising awareness of their rights as well as how to spot and report signs of modern slavery.

Additionally, in this financial year we have also taken the following steps:

 We have worked with industry bodies such as Business Services Association (BSA) and tech:UK to work on modern slavery best practice. We use the results of these engagements to inform our own policies and working practices.

- We have been Living Wage accredited for the past four years. We voluntarily pay all our employees the real living wage including those employed by our property and facilities providers. We have also set an expectation in our Supplier Code of Conduct for our suppliers to pay the Living Wage and to work towards Living Wage accreditation.
- Any suspected cases of modern slavery or human trafficking can be raised by an employee using the procedures outlined in the Code of Ethics. To date we have not had any instances of an employee reporting a suspected case within our company.

Our recent Total Facilities Management Tender is a good example of where we have worked closely with prospective bidders to understand their approach to Social Value and to the prevention of modern slavery, making sure the successful bidder was fully committed to working with us on this important topic.

Within our supply chain

We recognise our supply chain contributes the greatest risks for modern slavery and human trafficking. As a result of this, our relationship with the supply base is a critical part of our commitment to eliminating modern slavery and creating a healthy and diverse supply chain. Annually we procure in excess of £200m of goods and services of which 96% is with organisations based in the UK and EU, 3% with companies based within North America and less than 1% from the rest of the world.

We make sure modern slavery risks are considered during all stages of the procurement life cycle. If there is a suspected case of modern slavery, we will make sure the correct procedures are followed and that the victims are supported. We will work with suppliers through our polices and contracts to deal with any issues on a case-by-case basis.

Our recent Total Facilities Management Tender is a good example of where we have worked closely with prospective bidders to understand their approach to Social Value and to the prevention of modern slavery, making sure the successful bidder was fully committed to working with us on this important topic.

Key categories of spend comprise:

- IT Services
- Consultancy and Contractors.

Our modern slavery supply chain engagement programme for all suppliers includes:

- An assessment of every new supplier during the onboarding process which includes acceptance of our Supplier Code of Conduct and our standard Terms and Conditions. Our Supplier Code of Conduct mandates our Suppliers comply with a set of obligations which include,
  - Prevention of modern slavery and human trafficking in their own operations and supply chains.
  - Making sure neither they nor their suppliers use child labour and that their employment of young workers adheres to International Labour Organisation's standards and local regulations.
  - Confirming neither they nor their suppliers use debt bonded labour in their operations.
- Using EcoVadis to assess and monitor our key suppliers against 21 different areas related to social, environmental and ethical responsibility in the supply chain. We gather data on our suppliers' labour standards and fair business practices within their own organisations and supply chain. This assessment allows us to identify areas of concern and provides suppliers with action plans for improvements.

- Invoking sanctions about a suspected case of modern slavery in our supply chain - We will collaborate with our suppliers to investigate and make sure appropriate procedures are followed within a given timeframe. If we are not satisfied with the result, we will investigate the termination of business relationships or contracts with suppliers who fail to improve their performance in line with an action plan or where our agreed terms of trading have been breached.
- Reviewing the risks of modern slavery during all stages of the procurement process including tender evaluation, contract award and in-life contract management.
- We continue to be a signatory of the Prompt Payment Code. This sets standards for payment best practice and reduces the risk of late and extended payments. This in turn reduces pressures on suppliers that could lead to modern slavery. Our standard payment terms are net 30 days. We currently pay 98% suppliers in accordance with its principles.
- Continually monitoring our Supplier Code of Conduct to make sure it is relevant and contains clear obligations for our suppliers concerning prevention of modern slavery and reporting compliance with the code back to our parent company, Sopra Steria Group, monthly.

In the Financial year:

- We have continued to add our Modern Slavery Statement to the Government Modern Slavery Statement Registry to insure complete transparency of our operations.
- As a result of establishing the Social Value Steering Board in late 2022, we have now employed a dedicated Responsible Supply Chain resource to focus on all aspects of Responsible Procurement including modern slavery.
- Based on recommendations received from STOP THE TRAFFIK, a specialist modern Slavery charity, we have conducted an inherent risk analysis of our supply chain which identified a potential high risk set of Suppliers for further analysis.
- We have created a new set of Standard Contract templates which reinforce a Supplier's commitment to prevention of modern slavery and human trafficking.
   We have created a dedicated mailbox for Suppliers to report any suspicions of modern slavery or human trafficking.
- During 2024, we will undertake the Modern Slavery Assessment Tool (MSAT) Survey for 2023 to identify any areas of improvement in our current modern slavery governance. We will also build on the recommendations we have received from STOP THE TRAFFIK to assess any potential risks identified.
